Several agencies have teamed up to provide a unique learning and networking opportunity for potential cover crop growers and cattle operators to partner and add mutual value to their operations. The day will feature a trade show, speakers from both public and private organizations, as well as first-hand insight from producers who are making it work right here in Nebraska. The program topics will include: tips and opportunities for growing cover crops, how and when to utilize livestock, rental rates and partnership agreements, plus, the opportunity to visit and network with related businesses and producers. Reception to follow sponsored by Polansky Seed.
