6 Ways to Workout While Cooking

While we often think of the kitchen as a place where we cook up calories, it's also possible to burn additional calories while cooking. There are several advantages to building some "workout" time into the time we spend preparing food.

1. Cooking is a time already reserved for an activity and is on our schedule.
2. You have to eat — so, it is less likely you'll have a schedule conflict.

The following examples are some simple ways to burn more calories while you cook.

Values for approximate calories burned are from MyFitnessPal at http://www.myfitnesspal.com/exercise/lookup and are for a 150 pound person. You can adjust the weight and amount of time entered in the online calculator up or down.

These activities aren't meant to replace regular physical activities such as walking, biking, weight-lifting, etc. However, while the individual amounts appear rather small; just by adding together a few activities, one can see how it is easy to burn 100 or more calories during a regular ongoing event such as food preparation. As an extra 100 calories daily could lead to a weight gain of 10 pounds a year, this amount of energy expenditure could be significant over a period of time.

Burn Calories by Dancing While Dinner is in the Oven

Rather than sit and read the paper or have a cup of coffee while dinner is cooking, dance the time away. Have a couple of lively tunes at the ready and begin to boogie! Or, simply head outdoors and take a brisk walk while dinner is cooking.

Activity (time): Dancing, general (10 minutes)

Make Kitchen Items Less Convenient

Short on space in your cupboards? Perhaps there are some items you could store up- or down-stairs. Rather than inconvenience, they become an opportunity to add a little extra activity into your day.

Activity (time): Walking, upstairs (2 minutes)

Workout While Waiting for Water to Boil

Just walking around, waving your arms in circles, raising your legs, etc. will burn calories.

Activity (time): Calories burned from light calisthenics, home, light/moderate effort (5 minutes)

Approximate calories burned: 20

March in Place While Stirring at the Stove

Many recipes say "stir frequently." Use the time between stirs to add a little activity such as marching in place.

Activity (time): Marching rapidly, military style (5 minutes)
